

Tetewatha:ren Open line/Talk Show Caller Agreement

By calling into the Party Line Talks Show (hereinafter, the “talk show”), the caller expressly agrees as follows:

1. It has been established that the Party Line Talk Show (hereinafter, the “talk show”) has been identified as being an integral part of K103 programming. For K103 to provide quality programming that encourages community participation, it is essential that the following guidelines apply:
  - a. The caller must not engage in abusive, personal attacks against individuals or groups.
  - b. The caller must not engage in sensationalism
  - c. The caller must not make defamatory remarks of any nature whatsoever against an individual, group or corporate or other legal entity/body;
  - d. The caller must not dispense advice in areas beyond his/her expertise.
  - e. The caller must not engage in inaccuracy or innuendo
  - f. The caller must not use offensive language
2. Failure to abide by these rules will result in the caller being cut off, or the guest will lose their on-air privileges, dependent on the number of offenses as follows:

First Offense: Minimum 3 Month Suspension (dependent on the severity of the offense)

Second Offense: Minimum 6 Month Suspension (dependent on the severity of the offense)

Third Offense: Lifetime ban (with option to appeal in writing, after three years to the K103 Management or board).
3. Furthermore, callers are entirely responsible for any damages should they make any statements of a defamatory nature against a group, individual or corporate or legal entity/body. The caller agrees to hold K103 harmless from any damages resulting from their guest appearance on the talk show and shall indemnify K103 for any damages suffered as a result of the caller’s behavior and/or remarks.
4. As an active participant on the K103, I have read and understand the guidelines and will abide by them. I understand by calling into the talkshow, I am expressly agreeing to the above.
